RALEIGH, N. C., THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1886.

The National Democratic Committee.

NEW YORK, June 14.—This afternoon General Hancock visited Mr. English at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and after a short conference left the building with him. The General, on entering the hotel, was warmly greeted by members of the National Committee and other Democratic politicians. The Democratic National Executive Committee met shortly after one o'clock this afternoon. Wm. H. Barnum was elected chairman, F. O. Prince, secretary, and General Duncan S. Walker, of Washington, assistant secretary. Members of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee waited on them and made a long statement as to their views of how the campaign should be carried on and the part they intended to take in it. The committee is still in session.

The Democratic National Committee, before their adjournment, added the name of B. F. Jonas, of Louisiana, to the Executive Committee, which now numbers eighteen members.

The matter of two Democratic electoral tickets in Virginia came up, and, after a brief discussion, was referred to the Executive Committee.

Joseph L. Houce, of Albany, was chosen second assistant secretary to the committee and Edward B. Dickinson, stenographer.

Messrs. Hewitt, Smalley and Barnum were appointed a committee to secure per-manent headquarters, and Messrs. Hewitt, Cleveland, Scott, Smalley and Horsey as an advisory committee. A sub-committee. consisting of Messrs. Barnum, Hewitt and Scott, was appointed to confer with the sub-committee from the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee in regard to the management of the campaign. The latter sub-committee consists of Senators Whyte, of Maryland; McDonald, of Indiana; Wallace, of Pennsylvania; Eppa Hunton, of Virginia; Augustus Schell, of New York, and Duncan S. Walker, of Washington. It was decided that the Executive Committee should meet on the second Tuesday in each month at noon, and the matter of establishing a branch in the West was discussed, but no action was taken on it. The committee then adjourned, to meet again Wednesday morning next at 10 o'clock in Fifth Avenue

The Committee's Visit.

NEW YORK, July 14.-When the Democratic National Committeemen called on Gov. Tilden, Gov. Stevenson made him a long speech, thanking him in the name of the party for his withdrawal in the interests of harmony, and handed him a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Cincinnati Convention on the subject.

In reply Mr. Tilden spoke as follows: Mr. Stevenson, President of the Demoratic National Convention :- I thank you for the kind terms in which you have expressed the communication you make to me. The solution which enables the Democratic party of the United States to vin-dicate effectively the right of the people to choose their Chief Magistrate, a right violated in 1876, and at the same time relieves me from the burden of a canvass and four years of administration, is most agreeable to me. My sincere good wishes and cordial co-operation as a private citi-zen attend the illustrious soldier whom the Democracy have designated as their standard bearer in the Presidential canvass. I congratulate you on the favorable prospects with which that canvass has been commenced, and the promise it affords of complete and final success.

The members of the committee were then introduced to Gov. Tilden individually, and soon after took their leave.

Vankees Mobbing Negroes.

Atchison, Kan., July 14.-C. H. Peck, contractor for the excavation work of the packing house of J. M. Smith, of East Atchison, Mo., having engaged several colored men, to whom he was paying a dollar and a quarter per day, a drunken mob, armed with revolvers and knives, made their appearance on the spot to-day and compelled them to quit work. The erowd increased and proceeded to the brick-yards of Smith & Co., where seven colored men were employed, and compelled a suspension of all work and drove the negroes over the river. The mob then numbered several hundred and was addressed by the Mayor of Atchison and others urging peace and order but without avail. Colored drivers of transfer teams were compelled to turn back over the bridge, and the colored parties at the vari-ous freight depots, and other negroes in town, were hunted up and sent over into Kansas. The authorities finding all their efforts to quiet the mob useless telegraphed to Sheriff Spencer, of St. Joseph, to come and exercise his authority but he refused to come. The mob now have possession of East Atchison and defy the law and militia. The people of Atchison who are largely interested in industries are indignant at these disgraceful proceedings, and unless the officers of Buchanan county, Missouri, do their duty to-morrow they propose to take a hand in the affair.

Lynch Law.

MEMPHIS, July 14.—About two months ago Rufus Armistead was assassinated near Horn Lake, Mississippi, by Ed. Nelms, (col.) because Armistead's brother when deputy sheriff of Desoto county, Mississippi, a year ago killed Nelms' brother, who resisted arrest, having been charged with horse stealing. The assassination created much indignation and Nelms the murderer was pursued to Tonica county bottoms and together with his brother Prentiss Nelms and Tom. Kankey as accomplices were arrested. Ed. Nelms, the assassin, was conveyed to jail at Hernando and Prentiss Nelms and Tom. Kankey were lodged in Tonica county jail. Last Saturday morning while the two latter prisoners ates that the Porte will reply courtebut evasively to the collective note, prepare to wage unofficial war.

sion of the two men, and the officers returned to Austin for assistance. On re-turning they found the two prisoners dead with their throats cut from ear to ear and their bowels protruding from numberless wounds inflicted with knives, and a rope around each of their necks. An indignation meeting was held in Austin on Monday at which resolutions condemning the act were passed. Committees were also appointed, composed of whites and blacks, to ferret out the muderers.

Rait oad Accident.

NEW YORK, July 14.—An accident occurred on the Long Island Railroad, between Pearsall's station and Far Rockaway, this morning. The gravel train going East, with 35 Italian laborers on board, ran under a heavy wire rope by which a derrick, near the track, was sustained, sweeping the cars and knocking off the laborers. Many men were maimed in a shocking manner, many had their skulls fractured, and others escaped with broken limbs. Three are fatally injured. None of the laborers can talk English. They were conveyed to Brooklyn on a special train for medical treatment.

Rarely have text-books been greeted with so large a measure of favor and hearty appreciation, as these books by Professor Gildersleeve have received from the best scholastic and educational minds of the country. The author, now of national reputation as a scholar, has had very complete preparation for such a work. After being graduated at Princeton, he studied for several years in the Universities of Germany, where he received his Ph.D., etc., with highest honors. His subsequent life has been devoted to teaching and linguistic study. When the new and richly endowed Johns Hopkins University sought for a fit man for its chair of Greek, the appointment was conferred on Prof. Gildersleeve, after wide conference, and without his solicitation or effort, and his work as senior professor of the University attracts marked at-Rarely have text-books been greeted with so professor of the University attracts marked at-tention. A MATTER OF CHARACTER.

A correspondent inquires for the facts of Mr. GARFIELD's connection with the DEGOLYER pavement job and the Credit Mobilier frauds. What is known as the DEGOLYER job was a contract made by DEGOLYER & McCLELLAN, of Chicago to lay some wooden pavements in Wash ington. When the frauds of the SHEP-HERD Ring came to be investigated by Congressional Committee, it was ascertained that Mr. GARFIELD had been paid $5,000 by the DEGOLYER contractors Mr. GARFIELD testified that the money was paid him for preparing a legal brief which was never anywhere filed; the contractors testified that they paid it to him to secure his influence as chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. The $5,000 of fee or of bribe, call it what you please, was paid to Mr GARFIELD in July, 1872, just after the close of the session of Congress. When Congress re-assembled in December, 1872, Mr. GARFIELD reported on the deficiency bill $1.241.920.92 for paying, &c., and before Congress adjourned on March 4th, 1873, he had succeeded in putting through Congress, after long and angry debates, $3,441,453.92 of appropriations for the SHEPHERD District of Columbia Ring, well known as one of the most corrupt and profitable organizations in those days of unexampled corruption. These are, briefly stated, the facts about the DE GOLYER matter. They may be found at great length in the Congressional Record and in the report of the GLOVER Congressional Investigating Committee. The facts of the case are disgraceful enough; it is not necessary to determine the open question, as to which committed perjury in testifying before the House Committee. Either the DE GOLYER contractors or Mr. GARFIELD swore falsely.

The Credit-Mobilier business was Mr. GARFIELD's crowning achievement. This was investigated by a committee of Congress. Congress was of Mr. GARFIELD'S party; a majority of the committee was of his party; the witnesses were altogether of his party; the evidence was of the most convincing kind; and the judgment of the sary appliances for medical relief and for committee was that Mr. GARFIELD had disinfecting clothes and bedding. The mittee as a witness in his own behalf, Mr. GARFIELD was sworn and testified that he had "never owned, received, or agreed to receive any stock of the Credit-Mobilier or of the Union Pacific Railroad, nor any dividends or profits arising from either of them." Did Mr. GAR-FIELD swear falsely? We will not cite the testimony of OAKES AMES, the man who bought Mr. GARFIELD's votes in Congress with Credit-Mobilier stock, for he may be supposed in some sort an interested witness, though very plainly GARFIELD's friend and doing all he could to shield his friend from exposure. Passing by AMES and his documentary evidence of GARFIELD's guilt we take the answer from the written and printed words of Mr. GARFIELD's friends who, proceeding as a court under the solemnities of an oath, did all they could to shield

A Republican Committee of the Fortysecond Congress, consisting of LUKE P. POLAND of Vermont, GEORGE W. Mc-CRARY of Iowa, NATHANIEL P. BANKS of Massachusetts, and two Democrats, WILLIAM E. NIBLACK and WILLIAM M. MERRICK, pronounced JAMES A GARFIELD a perjurer when they de clared that he did agree with AMES to take ten shares of Credit Mobilier stock; did receive a dividend of $329 on that stock in the shape of a check on the Sergeant-at-Arms; and did understand when he received the money, that it was the balance of dividends after paying for the stock. In order that there may be no doubt as to the Poland committee's verdict, guilty of perjury, we annex the exact language of the report made to Congress by Judge Poland on February 18, 1873.

as follows: "The facts in regard to Mr. Garfield, as found by the committee, are that he agreed with Mr. Ames to take ten shares of Credit Mobilier stock, but did not pay for the same. Mr. Ames received the eighty per cent. dividend in bonds and sold them for ninety-seven per cent., and also received the sixty per cent. cash dividend, which together with the price of the stock and interest, left a balance of $329. This sum was paid over to Mr. Garfield by a check on the Sergeant-at-Arms, and Mr. Garfield then understood this sum was the balance of dividends after paying for the stock.

That is the case. Mr. GARFIELD stands before the people convicted by a jury of his own friends of crimes at once fis gitious, odious and contemptible: of that sort of crimes for which English-speaking people, in the Old World and the New. have provided as means of punishment the pillory, the stocks, the jail. Those who wish to know more of the details may find them fully set forth in the volume known as Judge POLAND's Report to Congress. It is all there: the first in terview with AMES, when GARFIELD was as eager to sell himself as AMES was to buy him; the higgling about a price; the agreement on a price; the discovery of effort to induce AMFS to save him by save her life.

perjury; his own perjury; the verdict. We do not care to go further into the matter; not even to reprint what are now lying before us, the indignant comments upon Mr. GARFIELD's rescality, and Judge POLAND's timidity in reporting it, and the House's neglect of its duty to punish it, as made by the New York Times and the New York Tribune in February, 1873.

FAMILY HONOR.

A few days ago, says the New York Herald, a young man deliberately shot his sister, who had been living a life of shame his object being to save his family's name from dishonor; but how the family honor was improved by the operation remains to be seen. Before the time of the murder the stain that had been inflicted upon an honored name by the girl's waywardness was known only to the inhabitants of a single town, all of whom probably felt sorrowfully tender toward their afflicted neighbors, who at that time apparently had but a single disgrace to bemoan. The girl's death did not relieve her relatives of the mortification they had suffered by her dissolute life, and the method of her taking off inflicted upon the family the additional disgrace of havng produced a murderer. Meanwhile the name, through the circumstances of the nurder, has been dragged from the security of the local circle where it was regarded only with kindness, and been dashed by telegraph all over the country, with the particulars of the double stain it has suffered. The moral is so plain that it should be a lasting warning to others who have family wrongs to brood over. If family disgrace, which is really only the disgrace of a single individual, may be terrible to endure, the misery of the suffering ones should not willfully be enhanced by notoriety.

THE GOVERNMENT is making ready for war on yellow fever with guns as well as with physic. Four steamers have been constructed, under the supervision of the National Board of Health, for quarantine service on the Mississippi river. The little fleet is composed of a hospital and supply stern-wheel steamer, 112 feet long, 18 feet beam and 4 feet hold, the hull being constructed of iron. It is fitted up with quarters for the physician and such yellow fever patients as may be taken from vessels on the river, and with all the neces 36 feet long, 7 feet beam and 31 feet hold. They are to act as tenders to the larger vessel, and each launch carries a small cannon to call and bring to a halt vessels suspected of having yellow fever on board. Quarantine stations have been established in connection with this service at Cairo. Memphis, Vicksburg and New Orleans, and at the mouth of the Red river. Al the vellow fever cases intercepted and taken from the river craft are to be carried for subsequent treatment, to the nearest station on the river. The estimated cost of this service to the government is $35, 000. The steamers left Pittsburg, where they were built, for their tour of duty on

EDUCATE the people instead of killing them. It pays better. It cost, says writer in the Presbyterian, $12,000,000. 000 to set the negroes free. One-half of this sum would have paid for them and provided homes and some education for them. It now costs the government about $20,000 to kill an Indian. One-tenth of that sum will educate him so he will not need to be killed. It costs our State about $1,000 to arrest, convict and punish in the penitentiary the average convict. Half of this, perhaps would have opened his eyes and made him

The Middle West.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.] STATESVILLE, N. C., July 14. EDITOR NEWS:—Since my last letter I have visited that delightful old town, Morganton, where I spent four days most pleasantly. The lunatic asylum at that place is progressing finely under the skill-ful management of Mr. James Walker. The location of this asylum for the poor unfortunate commands a most magnificent view of the mountains, and it does seem to me that if there is anything in scenery to aid the insane mind to a speedy restora-tion, this beautiful spot will accomplish it. Well may the North Carolinian feel proud that this glorious institution is being comeleted for her afflicted insane.

The climate of Morganton is I believe excelled by no other place in the mountains. Asheville not excepted. The society is equal to any in the State and there is everything to make it a favorite resort.

THE CROPS. These I learn have been very good this year. The fruit crop not as abundant as to peaches, though quantities of apples will be raised, and some few pears, and quantities of grapes. Morganton sustained a heavy loss last Friday, in the death of one of the most eminent physicians in the State, Dr. Covett. The large assemblage of the good people from the country around to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory fully attests the fact that he was beloved by all who knew him. He was buried just as the Sun was setting behind the grand old Blue Ridge, and the solemn and most impressive burial service of the Episcopal Church was beautifully read by the Rev.

Mr. Oertel. From Morganton I came to this very flourishing place. There are many places of no little note here. For instance the large female and male seminaries and the Messrs. Wallace & Brother's immense botanical depot. This latter is specially deserving of particular mention, being the largest establishment of the kind in the world. This most enterprising firm are now adding to their warehouse a building 45 by 100, three stories high, which, together with the one connected with it, gives them 270,000 square feet of flooring, which will give you some idea of its capacity for the storage of the products they are collecting from all quarters. They are wholesale botanic dealers in roots, herbs, barks, seeds, flowers and mosses, and all kinds of plants for herbariums. They received the only medal that was warded at the Paris Exposition, in 1878, for their splendid variety of indigenous plants used in medicines. At the Centennial Exhibition, in Philadelphia, in 1876, they received a similar medal, and the articles they exhibited there are now on exhibition in the main building at Philadelphia. The exhibition made by them at Paris they gave to the Patent Office at Washington, D. C. and children at work collecting the various herbs to be found there in the wild mountains than at any previous time, and this industry, established by this enterprising firm, has given employment to these Cherokee people who never exerted themselves in the least before for a livelihood. They shipped last year eighteen hundred thousand pounds of these roots, herbs, &c., foreign and otherwise. They have in stock 1,700 varieties of barks, roots, herbs, seeds, flowers and mosses, varying in quantities from 50 to 35,000 pounds of each.

In addition to all this they have one the largest wholesale and retail stores in State, excepting Wilmington and Raleigh. They did a business last year of from $375,000 to $400,000. Pretty good for old Statesville. And their stock em-

The "Golden Bell Cigarette" is so extensively known that it is needless in me to say more of it. The Colonel is a wholesouled gentleman and beloved and respected by every one who knows him. Succes continues to attend his enterprise. One word about Statesville as a tobacco manufacturing town, and I am done. This is surely a most eligible location for the establishment of factories. Tobacco is hauled through this place to Hickory and Winston. Let men of capital come and see for themselves. I venture the assertion that Statesville would be one of the very best places in the State for capital to be invested in establishing tobacco factories, and it is only surprising it is not done. Now let men who want to invest come and see for themselves.

ORANGE COUNTY NEWS:-Hillsboro, N. C., July 13, 1880.— There is a great deal of political gossip in this county as to who will be the Democratic nominees for the Legislature. There seems to be a large number willing to serve the dear people politically, but public sentiment and policy has about settled on M. A. Angier in the lower House, and Dr. Thomas Vickers for Coroner. As for the balance of the braves they will have to meet and play a game of tear to see who the favorites are. The nomination of Hancock and English gives general satisfaction in this section. They will be supported by all Democrats and some Republicans, and will poll a larger vote than has been given in Orange for any President.

It is very hot and dry here and has been for some time. Vegetation and all crops are cut short.

Much sickness and several sudden deaths in this section. Among them, Joseph W. McKee, of Little River Township. He died yesterday evening with apoplexy. Mr. McKee was one of the late census enumerators in this county; was a useful man in his neighborhood; and a man of education and a good citizen. He was teaching school at the time of his death and died in the school-house, near his

The Virginia Ku-Klux.

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Herald, 12th.] RICHMOND, July 11.—For a considerable period a party of moralists, disguised and calling themselves "Begulators," have been operating extensively in Scott county. Their mission seems mainly to have been the punishment of parties, male and female, living together without the legal sanction of marriage. For this and similar immoralities, the "Regulators" have, under cover of night, and in disguises peculiar to the terrible Ku-klux, visited and severely whipped numerous parties, the great ma jority of whom were of the political per-suasion known as Democratic, to which it is presumed the Regulators themselves also A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY,

On Thursday morning last these eccen ricities of the would-be moralists resulted in a terrible tragedy, their leader, Tandy Barker, who was reported to be "one o the nicest young men in Scott county, being the victim. Among the parties to whom the Regulators paid their respects was a well-to-do farmer named Elijah Corder, who had a wife and two children and whose character hitherto was without stain or blemish. In May last, however and unfortunately for all the parties, he was placed under the ban of the Regula-tors. He resided in Hunter Valley, north of Estelville, the seat of Scott county and about a mile and a half west of and below Hagan's sulphur springs. Corder at that time had living with his family, either as a domestic or a visitor, a handsome young female named Myers. The presence of this lady in Corder's house did not seem to accord with the strict ideas of propriety entertained by the virtuous Regulators. Accordingly, and with their usual punctuality and promptitude in such matters, they paid Corder one of their domiciliary visits. He was called out, and, apprehending no mis chief, went, was taken some distance from his house and very severely whipped. He was then notified by the Regulators that if the young woman, Myers, was not sent away they would call again and repeat the dose. Corder believing discretion to be the better part of valor sent Miss Myers away but against this proceeding Mrs. Corder strenuously protested. Mrs. Corder did not and would not believe the stories prejudicial to the character of either Miss Myers or her husband. So strong was she of the opinion that there was not the slightest truth in the report of the alleged illicit intercourse between her husband and Miss Myers, that at her earnest entreaty Corder was induced to send for Miss Myers and beg her to return to the house again. Miss Myers came back shortly before the beginning of the present month. It was not long before information of her return came to the knowledge of the Regulators, and then culminated the tragedy above alluded to.

READY FOR DEFENCE. It is a notable fact that in the Cherokee Settlement, in the western part of North the Regulators, led by Tandy Barker, in and attempted to force an entrance. This was not so easy a matter, and, disastrously for the Regulators, Corder was found prepared for a terrible defence. The assailants numbered some seven or eight. They demanded admission, which was defiantly refused. The Regulators then improvising two fence-rails into a battering-ram, broke down the door, which fell in with a crash. At that Corder fired his shot-gun at the leader, killing him instantly. Barker's breast and neck were riddled with thirtysix slugs. He fell dead in his tracks, and his body lay untouched until 2 o'clock p. m., when an inquest was held. At Corder's fire the other regulators fled in great terror and disorder, leaving two hats, a shot-gun and a mask on the ground. Three shots, it is said, were fired in all—two probably by the Regulators. One barrel of the dead leader's gun was found empty and the lock of the other barrel had been broken off, probably by the shot of Corder's gun. Barker's face was found blackened and his clothes were worn inside out. Corder allowed nobody to touch the body where it lay, in the threshold of his door, until the inquest he had caused to be summoned had assembled, and which found it prope upon the floor with blackened face and a pool of blood surrounding it. He had had a terrible revenge. Barker was about thirty years of age, of good social standing, and leaves a wife and two children. His father, who is living, performed the sad duty of taking away the mutilated remains for interment. Corder was not even arrested, and is not likely to be

Connecticut Imitates South Carolina,

A CHALLENGE BY TELEGRAPH. Although now it is hardly thought that the occurrence will have a tragic termination, there was considerable anxiety in New Haven, Conn., on Saturday, lest Mr. Enos Hale, assistant postmaster of that city, and Mr. Charles E. Alvord, a young gentleman of fortune well known there, should meet each other under the requirements of the code.

Mr. Hale was the administrator of the estate of a man named Dale, who for many years was a well known attache of the New Haven postoffice, in the conduct of which Mr. N. D. Sperry and Mr. Hale have won a wide reputation. Mr. Dale nominally was only a letter-carrier in the town, but he was a man who enjoyed in a high degree the confidence and esteem of his superiors, and who was possessed of considerable local influence. He died a short time ago, when, as said, Mr. Hale became the administrator of his estate, which was considerable. Mr. Dale left a daughter, an attractive girl. To her Mr. Alvord was attracted, and he paid her definite attentions. The reasons are not very well known, but for some reason, after he had long paid her attentions, a coolness sprung up between Miss Dale and Mr. Alvord, and under the advice of Mr. Hale the young lady brought a suit against her lo ver for breach of promise, claiming $10,000, and Mr. Hale caused an attachment to be levied in security of this sum upon the property of the defendant. Perhaps it it is not altogether singular that the indignation which Mr. Alvord felt at this proceeding was directed not against the young woman, his sweet-heart, but agains the advisory administrator, Mr. Hale. Nothing, however, came of the matter for a little time.

But on Thursday last, as he was attending to his customary duties in the post office, Mr. Hale received the following message, brought in by a uniformed boy and written upon one of the ordinary blanks of the Western Union Telegraph Company:

"MILFORD, July 8 .- Mr. Enos Hale, Postoffice, New Haven: Sir:-Meet me at Charlie Bradley's to fight at 8 o'clock. Which do you prefer, pistols or swords? "CHARLES E. ALVORD.

"P. S .- I mean business. The telegram was undoubtedly authenic. and Mr. Hale was astonished. He did not make complaint to the authorities, and what his intentions were are not known. It happened, however, that he spoke of the message, and even exh ibited it to several of his friends, and to this action on his part is due, doubtless, the culmination of the affair as it, turned out.

That afternoon Mr. Alvord had driven out to Milford with Miss Dale. Womanlike, she had forgiven him when he presented himself to her. In Milford, as they came to a tavern, Mr. Alvord asked the young lady to hold the reins while he went inside. Miss Dale, though she thought ently long, held the reins according to his request; but as half and then three-quarters of an hour passed and he did not return, she became piqued, and drove away nined to take the first train back to New Haven. There was no train for fifteen or twenty minutes, and she waited, having hitched the horse to a post, and entered the station. Meantime, Mr. Alvord, coming out of the tavern and perceiving that his sweetheart had driven away, was in great excitement and alarm. He instantly attributed the disappe rance of Miss Dale to the influence of the administrator of her father's estate, and being seized with a sudden frenzy of rage towards Mr. Hale, he at once rushed to the telegraph office, determined upon issuing a mortal challenge to that gentleman. The telegraph office at Milford is in the railroad station, and Miss Dale, who was still waiting for the train, saw her lover coming. She was frightened at the expression on his face, and still, also, piqued at his behavior, and she hid herself behind the door, so that he did not see her as he entered. Probably on account of his rage. he failed also to notice his horse and buggy tied to the post outside. He fairly sprang into the station and obtaining a blank from the operator, without reflection or hesitancy, he dashed off the hostile message that is given above. When he had signed his name to the telegram he dashed the pen to the floor, and in a frenzied manner exclaimed: "His life shall atone for it!" three times in succession. He then discovered Miss Dale, and calming her agitation the two drove back to New Haven where the challenger was arrested and held

English Burial Law.

[From the New York Times.]
The burial of Dimenters is a matter that is now receiving much public attention in England. In bringing forward a new bill on the subject, the Lord Chancellor very truly said that the present law of burials in anomalous and unnatural, and should not be allowed to remain longer in force. He claimed that all persons have a civil right of burial, and yet as a matter of fact, a large number of Englishmen are denied burial in the parochial grave-yards unless there be performed the burial service of the Church of England, and a very consid erable number are wholly excluded. Thus by the ecclesistical law of the country the burial service of the Church of England cannot be read over the bodies of those who have died without being bap-tized, nor over the bodies of those who have died by their own hands. The unbaptized are by no means few in number, since within this class are the children of Baptists, who do not perform the rite of baptism until maturity has been reached. This state of things, as the Lord Chancellor pointed out, shows a denial not only of religious liberty, but also of a civil right. Efforts to bring about a reform are not made now for the first time. The subject has been repeatedly agitated in recent years, but without overcoming the opposition to a change in the existing law. One of the compromises that have been proposed is silent burial. But what right, it has been asked, has the established church to say that all persons who do not accept its burial service shall be interred without any religious ceremony? The bill offered by the Lord Chancellor provides that on giving 24 hours' notice to the Rector or person in charge of the Parish church, the relatives or friends of any deceased person may have the body buried in the parochial grave-yard without the service required by the church of England. The friends of the deceased are allowed to have either no exercises, or services of their own choice, provided they are orderly and christian. The bill prohibits any proceedings which shall tend to "bring into contempt or obloquy the christian re-ligion, or the belief of worship of any church or denomination of Christians: and also the delivery of any address which is not a part of or incidental to a christian religious service. "Unitarians, Jews. Turks. heathen and agnostics are thus excluded," says the London Times, "and such addresses as were pronounced a few years since in Brompton Cemetery at the grave of Mr. Odger by, among others, a distinguished member of the present Government, would be inadmissible in a Parish grave-yard.

The "Angelic Believers."

[New York Sun.] The Rev. Mr. White, of New Hamphire, has founded a religious sect called Angelic Believers. They believe in the disposition of angels to visit earth's people, if they were only properly encouraged. between human and angelic beings. In sermon lately White said that it would not surprise him to have angels call upon him at any time, and he held himself in readiness to give them a welcome. Three boys resolved that White's faith should be rewarded. One of them borrowed three of his sister's nightgowns, and got three pairs of chicken wings, which were fastened on the shoulders of the white garments. With some other fixings by way of disguise, the boys went at night to the cot-tage of White. They knocked, and said they were angels. He examined their wings and raiment, and was satisfied. They were hungry and asked for kid. White had no kid. A fatted calf would do. White had no calf, and offered them pork, at which they turned up their noses. Some cold chicken was set before them, and hard cider, and they were enjoying the repast when Mrs. White came in. She was suspicious, and examined the flowing garments, on which she saw the name Blodgett" marked. "Ole man," she cried, I've washed all three o' them nightgowns fore." The Whites locked the door, took off the angelic robes, used up two broomsticks on the boys, and turned them out to go home like common mortals.

A Harsh Retort.

[From Harper's Magazine.] During the last political campaign in lichigan, a well-known lawyer of that State was addressing an audience composed principally of farmers, in Gratiot county. In order to win the confidence of his hearers, he said, "My friends, my sympathies have always been with the tillers of the soil. My father was a practical farmer, and so was my grandfather before him. I was myself reared on a farm, and was, so to speak, born between two stalks of corn.

Here the speaker was rudely interrupted by some one in the andience, who exclaimed, "A pumpkin, by Jingo!"

The lady did not object and he started for the nearest confectioner's promising to be back in five minutes. He bought a quart in one of those paper cases that look like a miniature mummy receptacle and proceeded homeward. On the way he met Simpkins, who noticed what Boggs had in his hand, and determined to have some fun. He knew that Boggs was absent minded and took no note of time, and he began a discussion on the Presidential question. Simpkins was very eloquent on the Democratic side, and Boggs equally so on the Republican. Finally Simpkins said: "Well, Boggs we've been standing about an hour, and guess your ice-cream is about melted; sorry the confectioner's is closed up for the night, but Hancock will be elected." "Hancock," said Boggs, as he saw a milky puddle at his feet and thought of Mrs. Boggs "nursing her wrath to keep it warm'

Lest he should cause us bother,
Saying, in effect, that you love me
Precisely as a brother;
That any talk of our being ongaged,

Or of our intending to be,
Is false as a campaign inppleme
By the mass, that perjury.
This taffy unto him I'll give.
And when he has departed
How swiftly to thy arms I'll fly.
My true and tender-hearted!" She has written him a letter broad
And sealed it with her tongue,
Depending on the evidence
Of her brother ahrewd and young;
But when her brother came home at night
And heard all, that young Mentor he Casped: "My evidence is all parol,
And you've given him decumentary!"

- NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. Attention Boys! is the way Prof. W. T. R. Bell begins his advertisement of the King's Mountain High School, and its a splendid beginning for an advertisement of a military school. Read it, and send to him for
- catalogue. Professor Hobgood again advertises the Oxford Female Seminary, a successor of the Raleigh Female Seminary, which for ten years has enjoyed so large a share of the public favor and confidence; and the Kentucky Military Institute opens its por-
- tals to boys who desire military training. In providing food for the mind we have not forgotten the body, our idea being mens sana in corpore sano. We present the advertisement of Mr J. A. Bragassa's bakery, and Mr. M. Grausman's grocery. These run well together. It is written, 'Man shall not live by bread alone," and Mr. Grausman, with his finely selected stock of groceries adds the trimmings to the
- staff of life bought from Bragassa.

 In addition to these advertisements general interest, Mr. E. W. Simmons advertises pieced cotton ties. The season is going to be earlier than usual this year, and it seems to us it would be well for those who use ties to lay in a supply early. That's all.

 Capt, and Mrs. J. J. Fray are spending
 - the summer in Virginia. Mr. R. B. Raney is touring in the West Judge J. W. Albertson and family left for the Warm Springs Monday.
 - WHO IS YOUR WIFE?-This is the title of a very readable book written by Waldorf H. Phillips and published by Messrs. E. J. Hale & Son. It has for its object the making uniform of the laws on the subject of marriage and divorce in all the States. In favor of such uniformity the book is, and is full of strong argument. So many books, however, have been written against so many abuses without effect that we have no hope this will accomplish any result. But it is a good book to read, being pleasantly written and well printed.
 - THE UNIVERSITY NORMAL SCHOOL .-Teachers should note that the Normal School will close on the 29th of July, not on the 25th as some think.

Resolutions of Respect.

- At a regular meeting of Manteo Lodge, No. 8, I. O. O. F., the following resolu tions were adopted:
- WHEREAS, By the mysterious decree of that "Providence which is too wise to err, and too good to be unkind," Manteo Lodge, No. 8, is called on to mourn the tragic death of our esteemed friend and brother, J. F. Wilson, which occurred on Tuesday night, the 6th of July, under circumstances peculiarly harrowing; and while we bow in humble submission to the will of "Him who doeth all things well." we are constrained to give a feeble expres sion to the feelings stirred by this sad
- event; therefore,
 Resolved, That we recognize in the death of Bro. Wilson that our order has sustained the loss of one that was fully imbued with the spirit of the Order, and our Lodge a member that was active and zealous in living up to the teachings of
- our ritual. 2d. That this Lodge tender to the widow and child, and aged mother and other relatives of our deceased brother
- its heartfelt sympathy in this their and our sad affliction. 3d. That as a token of our esteem and remembrance of our deceased brother, this Lodge will wear the usual badge of mourn-
- ing for thirty days. 4th. That the Secretary be directed to spread these resolutions on his record and forward a copy of the same to the family of the deceased. What North Carolinians are Doing.

- GLEANINGS FROM STATE EXCHANGES.
- The Robeson crop reports, as made to the Robesonian, are all good. The Plant says that Durham has 2,005 people inside, and 1,600 outside the cor-
- porate limits. Red Springs, Robeson, reports to the Robesonian one man and one woman, both white, who were 104 years old on the 4th
- instant. Robeson County's population in 1870 was 16,262. The Robesonian's figures make the population now, as reported by the census-takers, 23,918; an increase of 7.656, nearly 50 per cent.

The Charlotte Observer says that "stock farming pays well in Mecklenburg; at least Capt. Syd. B. Alexander is making it pay well. This year he has been over-run with orders for sheep, horses and cattle. He has been especially successful in raising the first named and finds a great demand for the superior breeds. He had over forty orders for lambs which he was unais at 8 a. m., and Thursdays at 1 p. m., mand for blooded cattle. The Enderly omes in Thursdays and Saturdays at I p. m., stock Farm is becoming widely known for the quality of blooded stock it produces.

At Lemars, Iowa, Sunday evening, Maj. all the quality of blooded stock it produces.

- and is being made decidedly profitable to its owner, who is thoroughly familiar with his business and has the enterprise to keep abreast with the foremost stock raisers in the country. He has now the best breeds in the country and is constantly improving
- The Oxford Torchlight says that "President Robinson of the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad has submitted a proposition to build and equip the O. & H. Railroad and the Board of Directors has accepted it. Col. Robinson is now in Europe but will return in six weeks, when work will be 1esumed at once and the road will be completed in a short time. The road is now a fixed fact, and people need not hesitate in regard to locating in Oxford. We expect to build up one of the largest and most prosperous cities in North Carolina."
- STATE POLITICAL ITEMS:-
- The Warsaw Brief Mention says that "on the 10th a large and enthusiastic crowd of the citizens of Limestone Township, met at Beulahville, and were addressed by Mr. J. W. Shackelford, our nomines for Congress, J. D. Stanford, Esq., and J. W. Powell, Esq. Mr. Shack-elford spoke over one hour, discussing the issues in an able and eloquent manner. He will make a thorough canvass of the District. His speech was well received and created considerable enthusiasm. Limestone Township is always right and will do her duty now as heretofore.
- GENERAL NEWS ITEMS:-
- Jefferson county, Wis., has 32,137 inhabitants, against 34,040 in 1870. Dodge county has 44,122, about 4,000 less than
- Last week a timber raft with forty persons on board was dashed to pieces in the rapids of the River Dnieper and all pyrished.
- Seventy-one deaths occurred in Havana. Cuba, from yellow fever and 11 from sma!lpox during the week ended Friday. There are many cases of dysentery.
- A letter received from the White Sulphur Springs says that Senator Don Cameron is completely shattered in health, and there is danger that he will not recover. A London firm advertises that it has fo
- sale one of the identical stamps by which George III. attempted to impose the obnoxious tax on teas imported into British America. The capture of Arica by the Chilians is considered a death blow to the hopes of
- Peru, but President Pierola still urges war to the bitter end, and is taking the most energetic measures. The French Jesuits have requested permission of Spain to establish a penitentiary colony in the Island of Fernando Po.
- The request is receiving the consideration of the government. The Mississippi greenback State committee has put a full greenback electoral ticket in the field, headed by Gen. Reuben
- Davis and W. M. McLeod, the latter a cold red man, as electors at large. The New York Sun is informed that a number of stalwart republicans in that city are proposing to run an electoral ticket headed with Gen. Hancock for President
- and Gen. Arthur for Vice-President. Gen. Sheridan telegraphs the War Department from Chicago that he has no official information of any attempt being made to invade the Indian Territory. War Department officials are of opinion that the reports are exaggerated.
- The comptroller of the currency has is sued a circular to the National Banks requesting them to furnish on a blank form the amount of all taxes paid to State, county, city, town or other municipal au-thorities for the year 1879.
- On Sunday a boy named Johnston saw a bear passing through a clearing on his father's farm, near Huntsville, Ontario, and fired, wounding it. He then started in pursuit with the empty gun. The bear turned upon him, and before assistance could arrive had killed him and torn his body almost to pieces.
- Secretary Schurz has prepared an outline of the campaign speeches which he will make, beginning next Monday in Indiana. He will take the most radical Republican ground, and the most pronounced stalwart will undoubtedly be satisfied with his speeches. The Secretary is very confident of Republican success.
- In consequence of the defective harvest prospects in Russia, the question is dis-cussed in St. Petersburg of forbidding the export of wheat partially. This would be serious for Germany, where the ryc crops are especially poor. Under the circumstances Germany this year will, notwithstanding the grain duties, be an important customer of America.
- The villa of Theodore Monunsen, the distinguished German professor and anti-quarian, at Charlottenburg, a suburb of Berlin, was on Tuesday burned down. A very valuable collection of scientific and historical works, etc., collected with great trouble and expense from all over the world, was destroyed, and the loss is irrep-
- arable. The Illinois State Board of Agriculture tables of the July crop report show that the agricultural product of the State will be larger this year than ever before. The total acreage of wheat is twenty per cent. greater than last year, and the condition of the crop on July 1st, with the exception of a few counties, is equal to that of last year. The amount of corn produced will about equal last year's crop.
- The Postmaster-General has issued an order prohibiting the existing practice of certain classes of merchants, manufacturers, inventors and agents who send through the mails printed advertising cards of various shapes and sizes with a one-cent stamp affixed. The postal card furnished by the Department is declared the only card that will be allowed for the purpose, whether printed or written upon.
- In the case of the deputy collectors and marshals arrested in Georgia for killing an alleged moonshiner, Judge Woods, of the United States Circuit Court, has decided that such a case can be transferred to the United States Court without waiting for bills of indictment by the State grand jury. The hearing of the officials on habeas corpus, looking to their unconditional discharge, will come up to-day before Judge
- Woods, at Atlanta.

- ed Dr. W. B. Porter, the ball entering the neck, under the ear, and lodging in the bones on the opposite side. Both are prominent citizens. The trouble originated in Ball being the prosecuting attor-ney in a rape case in which Porter was defendant. Ball claimed that "if he had not got the drop on Porter he would have been shot himself." Porter was not armed.
- General Gonzales, who, the returns so far indicate, has been elected President of Mexico, is a distinguished soldier who was for some time Minister of War under President Diaz until early in the campaign, when he retired in order that there may be no pretext for the cry of official favoritism. He professes the same principles and adopts the same policy as President Diaz, with whom he is fully in accord. There is, therefore, a fair prospect that Mexico will enter next December on another administrative period of peace and industrial development.
- They shoot each other at the North all he same as at the South. The difference is only in the cause for shooting. At the North money is the thing which leads to blood-letting, and so, at Columbus, Ohio. on Tuesday, S. S. Rickley, President of the Capital City Bank, was shot through the forehead while standing at his desk by Andrew Echenburg, a Germau dyer. Echenburg was on the street, and as soon as he shot Mr. Rickley he placed the re-volver at his own temple and shot himself, dying almost instantly. Mr. Rickley may live, but the chances are against him. The trouble grew out of Mr. Rickley's refusal to loan Echenburg money.
- Instead of kissing his wife when he got up on Tuesday morning, Edward Hartman, a Baltimore German, threw a quantity of vitriol in her face. The woman, who is said to have been living on unfriendly terms with her husband, rose about day break, when Hartman seized her from behind and dashed the fluid in her face. She sprang from him shricking with pain, when the man turned to a table and emptied the contents of a vial of vitriol into a glass, which he held in his hands evidently with the intention of repeating the assault. A fourteen-year-old son of the couple interfered in behalf of his mother, and while the father and boy were struggling Mrs. Hartman made her escape into the street and ran into a neighbor's house. The woman will lose the sight of
- her left eye and be greatly disfigured. The Passion play in Ober-Ammergau was enacted on June 27 (Sunday,) under pe culiar difficulties. Five thousand persons sat for hours in a drenching rain and a cold mist in order to see 700 performers go through their trying task soaked to the skin, and with their wet garments sticking close to them in a manner which made free or graceful action hopelessly impossible. Pilate was in a dreadful state. Water flowed from his diadem like rain from a roof. He told a correspondent privately. after the play was over, that he felt as if he never could get through with his part; his eyes were half blinded with the rain and he was quite unable to manage his scarlet drapery with the dignity for which he is famous.

- [Detroit Free Press.] A passenger train which left Lansing coming East last Monday had among the pyssengers a plain-faced, sensible-looking girl about twenty years of age, and a thinwaisted, sickly-looking young man a year or two older. No one would have mistrusted that they were eloping had not the young man asked the conductor if there was a clergyman on the train. There was none, and the young man explained to the passengers around him that he was in a bad fix. He had come down from Bath Township in a buggy, and he was quite sure that the girl's father would take the other road down to Chicago Junction, and there board the Lansing train and raise a row. He was not much on a row, but yet he loved the girl, and they were bound to marry. If the old man came alone he thought he could bluff him off, but if his two big sons came along the scale would be turned. He therefore wanted to know of
- a man wearing a red woollen shirt and coonskin cap if he would stand by him. "You bet I will!" was the hearty response. "I got my old gal by running away with her, and I'll see you through this if 1 never do any more good. You wouldn't be worth a cent in a free fight, and now you go into the baggage-car and let me run this affair alone. I want to be seated beside the gal when the old man comes in." When the whistle blew for the Junction Coonskin changed places, and as the cars halted he put his arm around Mary and
- took one of her hands in his. The old man and his two sons were on hand, and they piled into the car pell-mell.

 "Here she is!" called the father, as he
- caught sight of the girl, and the three "Run away with my" ____began the old
- man, but when he saw the stranger beside her he checked himself. "Want anything of us?" asked Coon-
- skin, as he looked up. "Who are you sir?" "I'm going to be your son-in-law in less than an hour-eh! darling?"
- He gave Mary a squeeze and Mary looked happy.
 "Come along Mary—come right homo with me!" ordered the father. "Let's mash the villain!" added one of
- the sons. "Put a head on him—let me get at him!" shouted the other.
- The father seized Mary and the sons seized Coonskin. Then a red shirt towered aloft, a pair of big fists began working with a "pop!" "pop!" and as fast as the trio got up they made for the door. Coonskin folowed arms and feet working like a trip-hamlowed arms and feet working like a trip-han-mer and when the train moved off the father-sat on a box with a big woollen mitten held to his nose, one of the sons was pulling loose teeth from his jaw and the other boy was groping his way to a snow-bank.

 "Now, then," said Coonskin, as the ex-
- ultant lover returned; "resume yer seat, take her little hand in yours, and don't calkerlate you owe me anything."
 "Say, Tom," said the girl, "I'm going to kiss him for that!"
- "All right, sis." "Wall, just as you feel," said Coonskin, as he returned the smack, "but I want it distinctly understood around these parts that when I see true love on its way from Lansing to Howell to get spliced I kin lick all the persuing dads in the State of Michi-

- Bovish.
- [From the Detroit Free Press.]
 On one of the hottest corners of Woodward avenue, Detroit, at high noon, a small boy with a boot-black's kit sat under the full blaze of a sun pouring down for all it was worth. The boy perspired, roasted, blistered and almost melted, but he had stuck
- there for half an hour, when a lady pass-ing by halted and said:
 "Little boy, aren't you afraid of being sunstruck?"
- "Yes, ma'am," was the prompt reply.
 "Then why don't you get into the shade?"

"I can't."

- "Did any one tell you to wait here?" "No, marm, but I'm doing it on my own hook. It's awful hot, and I'm most dead, but I've got to stand it."

 She looked to see if he was tied, and was about to go on and regard him as the son of a brutal father in a saloon around
- the corner, when the lad explained: "There he is now! That boy up there is the chap I was waiting for, and I had to sit out here to see him when he turned the corner. He's the feller that called my sister a poke-eyed rabbit, and I'm going to jump in on him and lick him most to death! I wish you'd hold my box so I can get the bulge on him before he suspects anything."
